

Building test examples for projection methods in the solution of nonlinear integral equations

Filomena Almeida
Department of Mechanical Engineering
University of Porto
falmeida@fe.up.pt

Abstract

We will consider Fredholm integral equations with nonlinear integral operators and describe the classical projection methods applied to these equations, as well as more recent projection methods. Their numerical solution is based on matrix problems and the formulation of the representation matrices will be addressed and fully built for an example. The function solution is then obtained from the matrix problem solution.